

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

The content playback method comprises inputting scene descriptive information to specify a time based order regarding playback of a piece of content data, receiving and playing back the content data according to the scene descriptive information, measuring an available bandwidth of a network, and requesting a content distribution device to transfer a subsequent piece of the content data based on the scene descriptive information when the available bandwidth exists.

10091401-030702